Details: French canadian musician influenced by flamenco guitar, romantic expression and rock music. Since 1997 he has been working on a new genre fusing those three musical spheres and the demands of an improved aesthetic, an expressive technicality and a profound research of musicality. Inspired by his latin roots, he explored Andalucia in 2004, the flamenco cradle! His playing was forever transformed. (Andalucia: a region in southern Spain on the Atlantic and the Mediterranean; formerly a center of Moorish civilization). Since 2006 he has been organising his career and working with well known musicians in Canada, in Asia, and in the UK with Tim G. Wilson. He has performed regular concerts internationally and self-produced his first solo album called Overture in July 2006 featuring extended original compositions. He draws from a rich palette of musical influences including modern flamenco, romantic classical repertoire and rock fusion. Alexandre Therrien has been working since 2006 on a very successful interactive online guitar lesson website that had fair success throughout USA and Europe:
