Through out the years of growing up and playing the classics (NES, SNES, Gensis, PS1/Saturn) I had come to be very influenced by the composers of those times. Companies like Hal inc, Squaresoft (Now Squareenix), Enix (merged), Taito, Camelot planning, Working Designs (RIP), etc gave us all a taste of how amazing music in video games could be. Genre defying, lush, and most importantly, straight from the imagination. This is what lead me to continue year after year searching for the sound I was looking for, each song like a foot print, marking where I came from. If anything, my music is tribute to what the companies of those times (and current ones) have done and are still doing, for people old and young. Music will always be my life blood, and sharing it is even greater than creating it.
