An offbeat musical about the trials and tribulations of the advertising industry. A world where toothpaste not only whitens teeth, but cures depression. A planet where mac and cheese is not just made from powder and water, but glows in the dark. 17 MP3 Songs EASY LISTENING: Musicals/Broadway, POP: Quirky Details: The offbeat and quirky show premiered in the 2005 Fringe Festival. People laughed. One laugh was at least slightly quirky and offbeat. Written by Jason Atkinson. Richard is a composer who really wants to get into the advertising industry. He, along with his lyricist Scott, write a jingle which propels them to the highest ranks in the business. Life is good, but trouble lurks. A strange man named Barkley who, cleverly disguised as a supporter of Richard, is actually staking his claim for a comeback. He was once, you see, the Greatest Jingle Writer Who Ever Existed. His comeback weapon of choice? "Feel Pain Music." Music that doesn't make you feel so great. Will Richard be able to put aside his aspirations for FAME and GENIUS in order to stop Barkley?
