singer-songwriter acoustic pop rock. melodies like a city skyline. lyrics like a roadmap to the heart. voice like a warm summer day. 14 MP3 Songs ROCK: Acoustic, POP: 90's Pop Details: If you dig into the recesses of your memory, and recall the millions of little things that inexplicably wiped away your tear-stained cheeks as a child, that's what listening to Kyler is like. Hearing her sing is like a warm hug, a brightly colored band-aid on a skinned knee, a lollipop and a sticker after a visit to the doctor, a handful of dandelions in an old jelly jar. However, there is nothing childish about her approach to music. Her songs mostly deal with matters of life and love: the euphoric ups and devastating downs of relationships, battling the stresses of everyday life, the struggles of letting go and moving on. Very simply put, she makes the best of a bad situation by transforming even the darkest emotions into dazzling works of beauty and perfection. From the minute she picks up her acoustic guitar and the first notes escape her lips, the audience is drawn in and captivated by her warmth and charm. Kyler's acoustic feel evokes the spirit of singer-songwriter predecessors like Joni Mitchell and Sarah McLachlan, but her unique sound forges its own path. She melds together elements of folk, rock, and pop, creating seamless pieces that are mellow and introspective, but with enough edge to grab and take hold of your attention. Her voice envelops you like a favorite sweater on a winter day, and her songs are individual perfect little rooms you want nothing more than to hide away in. Her lyrics are always poignant and honest, revealing the inner truths of human emotion. The combination of all these things hits the heart in such a way that all of that baggage you've been carrying melts away, and you're left with nothing but feelings of peace and contentment. -Marisa Emralino just the facts on kyler... - 1st Place in the 2003 Mid-Atlantic Songwriting Contest for "Something So Beautiful" (rock/alternative category) - Winner of the 2002 North Carolina Songwriters Competition - First Runner-Up in the Windrift Songwriting Competition - Featured on 2002 Epic/Sony Compilation She's a special artist who can open her soul up to her listeners and take real risks." Peter Valle, Northeast Performer - "But Kyler's voice is very much her own. Sultry, yet fragile you can feel pain and strength." Chuck Waters, Raleigh News Observer - "You can see the potential for many missteps in such an ode, but England pulls it off beautifully. I dare you not to be moved when she sings "like a diamond in the sky." Rick Cornell, The Music Monitor kyler radio airplay...
