Writing and creating music that is like the best mix tape you've ever heard - to seduce that new 'friend'. If you've watched High Fidelity with John Cusack and Jack Black, you'll know what this record sounds like before hearing it... 16 MP3 Songs POP: 70's Pop, LATIN: Cuban Details: Statedancer, historically has been a 4 piece - Matt Bolter and Rob Green on guitar and vocals, Kirstie Stuart on Bass and Nicole Wiemann on drums. Matt and Rob have been writing songs for a few years before the band got all parts together to rehearse, in Matt's Cellar in Sale, Manchester from March 2004. The first gigs began in November of that year, upstairs at the Internet Cafe 'Fuel' in Withington, Manchester, England. The lads knew Kirstie quite a few years beforehand - Kirst had dallied in quite a few bands in the 90s- as guitarist and singer, then Rob met the drummer, Nic while working in a Call Centre in Manchester in 2003. Once gigs began - all around Manchester - then venturing out of the city - into London, Liverpool and elsewhere - there was a few interviews with the BBC GMR, Phil Jupitus reviewed their song Milkman Murders,(a song that will be available on our second release later in 2008) on BBC Radio 6, Paul Gambaccini reviewed their cd and the band received regular airplay from Clint Boon on his The Revolution radio station based in Oldham. Writing for this album began at the beginning of 2006 and finished in Jan 2008 - so is a true representation on a full 2 years work.
