Take a classically trained singer, a folky, eclectic style, and New Age sensibilities, throw in a dash of Celtic flavor, some colorful acoustic instruments, and a very unique vision to share of life's journey and its meaning. 12 MP3 Songs FOLK: Gentle, KIDS/FAMILY: Kid Friendly Details: In the liner notes to her exciting debut CD, April Lindevald explains: "In Ancient Mystery Writings, the fish was an archetypal symbol of Wisdom. It swam around in the deep waters of the unconscious, glimmering attractively, and then, in slippery fashion, eluded you when you attempted to grasp it! "Wizard School" refers to learning the art of Alchemy: the Magic of changing an unconscious life into an Adventure which one purposefully creates, and in which one fully participates! All of the songs you will find here are Fish, out of Wizard School; they are crystallized moments from my growth process...my journey. I share them, hoping they may be signposts on yours as well." April L. Lindevald has spent much of her professional career as a classical singer, delighting audiences with her rich, colorful contralto. She has sung in concert and oratorio, toured and recorded with the world-reknowned Gregg Smith Singers, and was a longtime regular chorister in the New York City Opera. Recently, seeking a more truly creative path, and wishing to combine her enduring loves of Music, Language, and Spirituality, she picked up her guitar and returned to her youthful passion for interpreting life's encounters in song. April's debut CD, "Fish Out Of Wizard School," offers twelve original songs. April performs on voice and guitar, with flute, trumpet, oboe, cello, bass, percussion and backup vocals enriching each piece in turns, and providing interesting colors. April's music is hard to categorize, springing as it does from joint traditions of Folk, Celtic, New Age and Classical Music. The moods shift from whimsical to reflective to exuberant to powerful. But, a keen wordplay, a respect for melody and a deep sense of Spirituality infuse all of her songs. Their themes deal with life's journey, particularly in moments of change, growth, challenge and transition. Here is what the
