Best described as dub-trip-island-down-hop, Solange's spoken words over the doctor's deep bass laden rhythms slowly rock us to oblivion... 11 MP3 Songs ELECTRONIC: Down Tempo, WORLD: Reggae
Details: Bahn ahn raise Cruzan (pronounced croo zhahn) of St. Croix, just south of Puerto Rico, in the Caribbean, Solange Sheppys rich ethnic background includes African, French, Danish, Spanish, German, Irish, Scottish, Welsh, and Cherokee (in order of descending potency). Cultured by linguist parents and intensive travel, lyrical translations have been her life. She has kept the stage warm for reggae artists and poets alike, including Dezarie, Sonia Sanchez, Richard Schraeder, Sr., and Sajatah. She is currently working with photographer Jann Gentry on a book called Collective. Echo Evahlstin victoriously stands as the doctors fourth album as a primary producer and writer. The album offers the vocals and spoken word of Solange St. Croix, promising to satisfy the most ravenous of dub appetites. Musicians featured include international recording artists Tyler Pope (!!!, LCD Soundsystem), Harley White, Jr. (Papas Culture), Tim Conroy and Matt Rodriguez. Solange St. Croix lays her words of love, empowerment, and eternity over doctor echos mixes of downtempo dub while the surreal instrumental contributions elicit even more abstract interpretations. Best described as down-trip-island-dub-hop, this album will surely find a place amongst all reggae lovers collections as well as those of the deepest electronic devotees. crazy dubwise love All-Music Guide I dare say none can dub like Doctor Echo Reggae Reviews
