Jokes Website Script allows you to add a little bit of humour to your website. This script is easy to install and has a Template system that can be very easily altered to suit your own design or blend in with your existing Themes. Users of your site will have to fill in a simple registration form to view Jokes and submit their own Jokes. Which means that this could be a great way of building a mailing list. Visitors and Users also have the option to opt in to your Newsletter. The script includes a Built in Rotating Banner which can be edited from the admin panel and Your PPC campaigns can be easily fitted into the Templates. This site can use multi level categories and all categories and content is simple to edit through the administration panel. This site uses Paypal just in case anyone wants to advertise on your site and be included into the Rotating Banners. (good income revenue)
