"A Highway Chile" is a solo musician, a one man band, a lover of the arts, and a billowing lapidate His debut album "Sodium Pentathol" (misspelled on purpose, or so he says) combines elements of classic rock, folk, blues, and heavy metal to create a totally unique sound. Except for a few guest musicians, the entire record was written and performed by A Highway Chile! The artist began his musical journey very young, listening to classic rock records. He attributes his love for songwriting to those adolescent years absorbed in Beatles albums. Self taught in the arts, the artist embarked on a rocky path to create a type of music both "unique and honest." A Highway Chile is either a genius or a madman, or everything in-between. Even with all of "SP's" doom and gloom A Highway Chile's vision and craftsmanship shine through. "Expect new music soon, I'm changing" was the last we had heard from him.
