collection of remixes of songs from the album "The Sin Of Nature". The title track of the e.p. "Sin Of Nature - Wumpscut version" was remixed by Rudy Ratzinger of Wumpscut during the production of Wumpscut's latest album "Fuckit". Techno and club based tracks include "Sin Of Nature - Ecstasy Euro Club Mix" and "A Heavy Burden - Euro Techno Mix" which both of these tracks include an additional female voice. "Sin Of Nature - A Cappella Mix" was included for DJ's and remixing work or sampling.

"Death Brings Life - Serpent Seed Mix" is more of a reproduction rather than a remix turning into an even darker and hellish nightmare than the original. "Sin Of Nature - Der Erbe Von Ihrem Hass Mix" is a slow down trip hop version with heavy choir and strings added. "Full Of Fools - Quote the Messenger Mix" is essentially the original slow down with most main drums removed and additional effects and eq. The original version of these songs can all be found on the Ehron VonAllen album "The Sin Of Nature" available here on CDBaby and iTunes. A brief interview excerpt with Sin Of Nature remixer Rudy Ratzinger of :Wumpscut: 1. Did you find it easy to draw inspiration from the original version of Sin Of Nature to do your remix? Rudy R. - Of course, yes: otherwise I would not have chosen it. 2. Where would you rank your remix among other remixes Wumpscut has done in the past? Rudy R. - One of the best. 3.

Did the Finland incident involving the Wumpscut name have any effect on your work? Rudy R. - Not at all. 4. Will VonAllen's remix be on the next Wumpscut DJ Dwarf release? Rudy R. - We will see - stay tuned in late 2008... note: after this interview was conducted , the Sin Of Nature remix did in fact appear on the Wumpscut DJ Dwarf Nine release in early 2009
