Details: Terminal C is a compilation of different Mark.Nine songs spanning over several albums. Mark.Nine is the alias of Marcus Gutierrez, an independent electronic music composer from Houston, Texas. His music is known for its melancholic chords and melodies, and a relatively simple structure consistent throughout the songs. Although experimenting with the creation of computer-based music since he was 14 (2004), Marcus became interested in the electronica netlabel scene early in 2006. Since then, Marcus has released four full length albums since 2006. Although his musical style varies from album to album, many of the same 'Mark.Nine' qualities are still there.
