Striking and pounding orchestral textures and fear. A passage of dark destiny. From film and television composer Michael Richard Plowman, the soundtrack Horror Creates a heart pounding, dark, and unnerving score. With a balance of live orchestra, synthesized sounds and textures. Horror will make you shut the closet door and look under your bed before try to go to sleep. Jarring strings and large crescendos of brass give you shivers up your back. Almost silent ambiences trick you into letting you guard down, only make you jump out of you seat as the entire orchestra hits a dissonant chord. Keep one eye open tonight when you climb into bed. Nobody is safe in the musical world of Horror. For the past 25 years, composer Michael Richard Plowman has been composing award winning and internationally recognized music, touching audiences in over 120 countries. He works with many of the major players in the industry world wide; including Sony Pictures Television, BBC, Cartoon Network, WB, 20th Century Fox, New Line Cinema, MTV, Nickelodeon, A&E, Discovery, Animal Planet Stephen King. Michael has worked on such Award winning and internationally acclaimed projects as: George of the Jungle, Lord of the Rings Television specials Splinter Cell the video game. With over 500 additional credits to date in live-action, animation, film and games. Whether racing through action packed adventures, holding your breath for that first kiss, or falling down a rabbit hole into a zany quirky world, Michael continues to create mezmerising original scores.
