Deja-vu, reincarnation, chaneling, daydreaming, humor and pain are some of the themes twisted into the songs. From 'Tuesday Afternoon' about a boy falling asleep in class to 'Apartment 7' about losing the one you love, there is something for everyone. Guitar rock with world influence, blues, jazz, techno, rap and occasional vocals sprinkled in. The compositions are great background music for working on creative processes, drinking a beer with friends, or just relaxing in a chair. Musicians who have heard the CD have called it smooth, moody, eclectic and relaxing. Mike has gone to school for Music Composition with an emphasis on Classical and Jazz. During this time he also studied Ancient, Oriental and Eastern music composition. "I know I like a song when it flows well and I tend to daydream while it's playing." "In my music there is some flash but I try to concentrate more on substance, mood and telling a story." "I find that my mind races and I get bored easily so I tend to keep the music changing themes and sometimes styles to keep myself interested. I also like to create a tension by throwing things together that maybe should not be put together." Recorded using 3D audio(check out the hi-fi versions).
