This collection of songs represents some of his best musical moments over that period. Classically trained on piano, Gary's style of music could be characterised as a cross between pop/rock. His formula for writing songs is quite simple, catchy melodies complimented by poetic lyrics with a story telling edge. His sound evokes influences as diverse as artists such as Elton John, Cat Stevens, Elvis Costello, Paul McCartney and Billy Joel. Gary is no stranger to the live Irish music scene and has been playing venues both as a band member (Keyboards/Guitar/Vocals) and also as a solo artist longer than he cares to remember. Currently ten of Gary's original songs are signed to a London based publishing company called "Sleeping Giant" who are run by Hot Chocolate. One of these songs entitled "She's Magic" has achieved some minor success from radio airplay in Europe. Gary has also co-written a musical entitled "My Last Duchess" having been inspired by the poem "A Death of a Duchess" by Robert E Browning. This is soon to be released in a concept album format.
