A mix of jazz, new age and storytelling. 11 MP3 Songs NEW AGE: Progressive Alternative, JAZZ: Smooth Jazz Show all album songs: The Lost Dream Songs Details: The Lost Dream is not your mothers New Age Music. Jamie Craig composed, played all instruments, recorded and produced, The Lost Dream. This loose knit collection of instrumental pieces tells the entire story of The Lost Dream song by song. The CD starts with the title song, The Lost Dream gently rolling out like clouds on the first warm day of spring, but when you hear the first thumb slap of a bass string you know this is somehow going to be different. A smooth sax slowly fades in and the song unfolds, unraveling an emotional and evocative instrumental anthem. This sets the tone for the entire works, each piece having its own unique mood as the tunes build on one another, collectively traveling and gathering steam. The CD climaxes with, Our Lost Dreams a very somber 6 minute plus number, as awash in gray tones as the stark cover of the CD itself. The mood is set by Cuban percussion and strings which lay a bed for a doleful sax melody, listening one can visualize gray skies, as the cold bitter wind blows and the snow falls in New York City. The CD ends on a brighter more hopeful note with, Take the High Road. The closing song takes a moody guitar score and runs with it. The amazing organ work slowly dissolves into some sweet strings as the song and CD end, leaving the listener saying, and I understand.
