Various TV appearances and two self-produced albums 'My Difference' and recent release 'Margaux With An X', have generated a host of accolades for UK based singer/songwriter/guitarist Margaux. Margaux's new album 'Margaux With An X' is an expression of her desire to extend and push her musical boundaries further. Says Margaux I wanted to explore and amalgamate a cohesive collection of different musical styles, classical, rock, dance and techno. The album comprises a mixture of catchy, sexy and energetic tracks tinged with raw emotion, accompanied by driving techno beats and dance rhythmic undercurrents, punctuated by powerful guitar riffs and strong classical orchestration. Recorded at Margaux's recording studio Rachalans Studios in Southern France, the album is capped off by her unique vocals, which TV presenter Damian Thomas called 'a voice that I could listen to until my dying day'. Described as a 'rare jewel' with a 'voice oozing attitude', Margaux has an uncanny knack for captivating an audience with her original material. She has actively promoted her music on the US and UK gig circuit, notably performing at the Rock Festival Guilfest alongside the likes of Alice Cooper and her New York City tour included renowned venues, such as The Bitter End and CB's Gallery. A wider audience is beginning to hear the music as 'Around and About', a television program produced on Meridian TV and 'Art Fein's Poker Party' a US cable talk show, recently showcased Margaux as their featured artist.
