passionate wailings of self doubt or endowment. 11 MP3 Songs ELECTRONIC: Experimental, ROCK: Noise Details: "we sprung from the strung-out sounds in the cold, dark places we reside".....this whole project began when the regionally successful band naive(who can be heard at garageband.com/artist/naive)became too far engulfed within the rock lifestyle (i.e. drugs, sex, and unfortunatly ego) to continue working together. the two key songwriting elements of the band nick wojcik and warren steele had grown apart personaly and musically, and were growing in opposite directions. nick decided to stay in the pop field and explore it,s bounderies(confind as they may be), while warren chose to take a long-awaited departure into avangard and experimental music(lucky for us and, i,m sure he would agree, his tormented psyche). needing to excavate and exorcise some demons, the creative process took off leading to two quickly released poetry books, two series of paintings, and what some would call a very long-awaited solo album appropriatly entitled "songs for lost souls"(available in the warren steele stylee section of consignment in the record stores of downtown athens ga or straight from the source). this project continues to grow with a second album currently in production. you can look forward to an incresed dose of depressing themes, strung-out sounds, crackhead nature, and the aggressive nervous energy, which is abundantly prevalent in this music, in the future. stay tuned to this band 'till the stunning conclusion. warren steele stylee w/ the strung-out orchestra and the crackhead circus promo bio An experimental group based on the creation of art for the sake of art and their appeal for audience reaction, warren steele stylee w/ the strung-out orchestra is a band that is interested in what, to them, is real, the forgotten expressions of the experiences true to life, and the ability to communicate with their audience personally in an indiscriminate yet uncompromising fashion. "Our goal is to be real people who play real music and that,s pretty much it." This along with their alternative (that is, to this planet!!!!lol!!!) attitude towards creativity, expressive live act, and music that has been described as "passionate wailing of self doubt and endowment" has earned "the stylee" a quickly growing fanbase(10,000+) and a reputation as one of the more unique and original independent groups in the underground scene. With a review entitled "warren.....originality at it,s best", warren steele stylee's participation in garageband.com's review competition in late 2005, which led to 14 garageband awards including 6 awards for most original artist, best guitars, and two garageband tracks of the day, has won some authenticity for their acclaimed originality. Fan base in place and the new album "songs for lost soul,s" set for a halloween release with worldwide independent internet distribution, warren steele stylee's focus has turned from a more raw expression to bringing the music to the fans. The upcoming tour aiming for more cities, more venues, and distribution to match is hoping to accomplish just that for the stylee,s fans. the band will also be debuting their new official site warrensteelestyleehopefully by the end of the year. The site will contain all of the links, music samples, the upcoming video project(already in the works), our new EPK(our constantly updated promo kit), as well as feature all that other usual stuff that you see at all those sites with all those bands that sell those things and all that kinda stuff. but yeah, it,s like the late Hunter S. Thompson said: "When the going gets weird, the weird turn pro.". A band heavily compaired to Tom Waits and Radiohead and influenced by Leonard Cohen and The Velvet Underground, when asked what was thought about the songs in the past it was replied "It,s all just names, noise and voice. Ideas at play. The practical applications are just a playing out of particles. An inconsequential motion that makes the moan; the fuss that brings the fuzz. Those things that bring the noise up from the scratch and make the moments less relaxed. Those are the things i,m interested in. when i think about making music...those are the ones." In conclusion, warren steele stylee w/ the strung-out orchestra is a band that is real. They,re very real about being real, and if you want to be real with them you have to be real with yourselves....really. You have to be real. They,re very real about what they do and if you,re really real about what you do then they,ll be really real with you. And really, they will realize your realness so you can realize just how real they are. They are just real...really!!! On behalf of warren steele stylee, thank you for all your time, love, and support.
