Catchy, rocking and witty piano driven alternative pop. "Geoff Smith, changing the music business before your very eyes."- Adam Curry, The Daily Source Code. 12 MP3 Songs POP: Piano, ROCK: Progressive Rock Details: Geoff is really getting around with his catchy "podsafe" music. Just check out music.podshowand see. And now in conjunction with CD Baby, Geoff Smith is up on iTunes!!! Geoff is a little bit serious and a little bit out of his gourd. He began his career in the music biz as a kid, growing up on the road with his father, also a musician. So it makes sense that writing tunes and playing gigs is what he really digs doing. Geoff originally studied theatre at Boston Conservatory, and it was while Geoff was acting all over the US that he started writing and performing in both his own band and in other groups. Living in Austin, TX led him to gigs in Europe (he lived in Holland for a year) and the Caribbean, which led him to studies at Sir Paul McCartneys Liverpool Institute, which led him back to the states, where he writes, plays, works as a producer, and has a wonderful wife and daughter. Geoff is a proud member of the Podsafe Music Network, and can be heard on countless podcasts. Some of you might know Geoff from his little jingles heard on Adam Currys Daily Source Code Podcast. Geoff is has actually been doing the theme music for numerous podcasts these days. Geoff has also been an Entertainment Director of the Big Bang Piano Bars for several years now, and is also working as an engineer and producer at Studio East in Charlotte, NC. If you are out at a karaoke bar somewhere, you will probably hear Geoff singing background with you as he is also currently providing his vocal talents to many of the top karaoke tracks out there today.
