They produce haunting melodic music on the panpipes. Their best selling album went gold in the UK and this was their second best selling album ever. 10 MP3 Songs FOLK: Traditional Folk, WORLD: World Traditions Details: Incantation's second best selling album features highly emotive traditional panpipe music from South America. This included original music from the Ballet Rambert Ghost Dances which Incantation re-recorded once out of contract to try to re-create, without the critical success of the first recording. However many would argue that although not the best selling, because it did not have the hit single from the Panpipes of the Andes chart album in the UK, it was by far their best work from a critical acclaim point of view. Unlike many traditional panpipe albums featuring South American artists Incantation have created music which appeals to western ears without compromising traditional values - yet at the same time employ recording techniques that make you feel like you are there - a brilliant album for panpipe enthusiasts and those who have "found" these great musicians.
