They call me Geronimo. My grandfather knew the great Apache medicine man. They held him as a prisoner of war for a full quarter of his life you know. In 1899 he was held at the Jefferson barracks near

Mobile, that's where Grandpa Henry met him, and that's where I got the name Geronimo I have been playin and singin country music for 50 years. Over those years I have, however informally rubbed elbows with a myriad of the great, near great and ingrate, of the music and entertainment world. I ran the best Guitar store in the world! Matt Umanov Guitars, down in the Greenwich Village. It was there that I got the opportunity to meet the big shots. From Sinatra to Johnny Cash to Paul Butterfield to Jaco, Jaco was a pal of mine, I could have saved him if I had been there, I know I could. I served in Vietnam in the 60s, I missed the entire era because of the war, lost a pal or two there. My last job in the Navy was Armed Forces Police in Brooklyn . I arrested kids who joined the service, and then just decided they did not like it and just went home, the Navy frowns on that. I also meet Greta Garbo there,,not in the Navy in NYC and she spoke to me. I meet Sinatra in our mutual bakery Zito I wrote a couple of songs with the great Shel Silverstein he saved my life once, literally. Short story, remind me and I'll tell you someday. I play my own songs almost exclusively these days although I do know the words to a lot of songs, other peoples, songs. I am a member of the Ray Price Fan Club. I taught knife and axe throwing and knife fighting for years at my place here in Houston. I am a shameless self promoter, shameless. Dr. John and Shawn Colvin played/sang on my first demo in NYC 25 plus years ago. They'll remember, I almost cost her, her job by getting her back late to work after. I worked for the mob, no! no! wait, I mean, I was a chauffeur to an older Italian gent for a time, who happened to be in the jukebox business and the laundry and restaurant, and your business. I come from Alabama, what does that look like on my knee ? Yes it is a Banjo!! I once had a great band L. J.Henry and the Pistilleros I did them dirt, and they dont speak to me for years now,oh well, Es la vida Good men all and I wish I could make it up to them some day, maybe in the next life.I would apologize, but I take John Waynes advice and Never,apologize its a sign of weakness,and Winston Churchills Never give up, never give up, never ,never, never give up. I have been in Texas now for 20 years by way of a year in a Mexican jail we had a great joint on the Isla Mujeres off the coast of Cancun. Bad Bones Caf Ran a few loads of guns to the Zapatista rebels, thats where I meet my wife, she was one of them. I have been playing around, no! thats not what I meant baby! Playing music around houston, that is. Teaching guitar, And banjo in the Houston area and finally got enough cash to make this record, damn! I said record, I also remember 8 tracks, and even wire recorders. The songs herein are all my own except a couple of traditional ones. My stories, are country stories. Murder, hate, love lost, prison, pain, mamma, demons, divorce, drinkin did I mention drinkin? .patriotism, honor, loyalty,daddy and of course, drinkin. Did I mention drinkin.? I forgot, I must have been Johnny cash said Mamma songs are always good in country music" In short, these are my SONGS OF GLORIFIED DISPAIR And yes I know despair is misspelled, and thats country too. I am, and will remain, one hundred and seventy-five pounds of rompin stompin Guitar pickin hell.! They call me GERONIMO, thanks for listenin
