Details: Super J was born as John Milton Warner in Newark, New Jersey. At an early age, he knew that he had an interest in music, and at the age of eleven he knew he wanted to sing as a career. He started off singing in his home church, singing as a member of the choir. After developing his skills as a soloist, he began to play different venues in New Jersey, Philadelphia and Delaware. It was during this time that he met Pete Gerald Jackson of the group "Touch of Class" who now head up Brojack Entertainment. They decided to do a project with him and the result of that project brought forth the Super J Coming Out album. Tags: pop
