cinematic electronica featuring harp, guitars, and lush vocals 12 MP3 Songs ELECTRONIC: Down Tempo, ELECTRONIC: Ambient Details: What began as a series of open-ended sessions between two aspiring film composers, swiftly evolved into a full-scale collaboration, resulting in the group 'transit' and the album 'lost angles'. Francis, Bafta nominated composer of electronica and strange sounds, met Marnie, a classically trained harpist/singer/songwriter (check out her debut CD 'Sunday Skies'), at UCLA. He had recently arrived on America's fair shores after departing his homeland of Scotland, and she was fresh-off-the-farm from Boise, Idaho. Together they harnessed their assorted talents, and with a lot of creativity, dexterity, cunning, and a strong work ethic, formed a unique sound. 'lost angles' is: songs with texture, lyrics with meaning, and melodies that conjure. Hard to classify but easy to love, the world of 'transit' awaits you ...
