Initially, I just wanted to express my inner voice through music of own making. Since then, I have not stopped composing and now, the result is this album. Many people have asked about my music but I find it is so difficult to explain the meaning of my pieces. All I know is that the inspiration comes from deep within my heart and the music is played with my spirit and my soul. It has been a long journey for me. Expressing this in words is difficult but through music, I am able to tell my story, the story of "A Woman's Journey". Yiling Huang Biography of Yiling Huang Born in Taiwan, Yiling Huang developed an interest in music at a ripe young age, but her musical legacy did not begin until the age of seven when her parents enrolled her in piano lessons. Inspired by Beethoven and Schubert, Chopin, Yiling knew since elementary school that her desire and love for music should to be continue its nurture in Austria. So, at the adolescent at the age of 16, Yiling moved to Austria to attend the prestigious Vienna University of Music and Fine Arts (Hochschool fur Music und Darstellende Kust in Wien). Then in 1988, she went on to earn a Degree in Piano Performance. During her eight -year -stay in Austria, Yiling gained many life long Austria friends as well as toured countless museums, attended numerous concerts and participated in several music seminars. A year after her graduation in Austria, Yiling moved to America to study at the New England Conservatory in Boston where she later received a Master of Music Degree. Yiling, along with her daughter, Clara and her cat, Momi, moved to a new city to start a new life. Through her experiences and her encounters, Yiling's journey has amounted to a time of self-discovery. Although composing music a month before her life-altering move, most of her compositions have been created after transition. Initially, Yiling began to write music as an outlet, but after encouragement from many of her friends, family, and her unconditional support from her parents, she built up the courage to take the next step in her ever-evolving journey. On January 2003, Yiling submitted her compositions to her producer, Paul Speer and four days later she received an email from him with an invitation for a meeting. Then in March the recording began and not a moment goes by when she is not inspired to compose new pieces. Yiling also invests her talent in adults or children who have the desire to learn piano. She teaches private piano lessons to students with the philosophy that states, "Playing the piano is more than just playing each note. It is a way for an individual to express himself or herself through music." With Yiling's guidance students are encouraged to play their music on an emotional level rather than on a mechanical level, and thus allowing the students to attain the skill to play music naturally and spiritually which in turn becomes a part of them for their entire lives. Currently, Yiling is inspired to compose more music, even more passionate, dynamic, powerful, spiritual, no longer just writing music based on her past, but creating music that reflects her new found connection to life. She is very blessed that her music has the potential to touch people's hearts and spirit throughout their life.
