Energetic bitpunk trio from Sweden delivers cheerful video game melodies mixed with fearsome hardcore beats. 15 MP3 Songs ELECTRONIC: Chiptune, ROCK: Punk Show all album songs: Aim for the flat top Songs Details: 64revolt was initially formed by believing in the power of machines. And NOT in believing in the society as it is today. We think that the audience is fed up with stage performers who think they can dictate what is right and what is wrong. We do admire that kind of effort but we have chosen another path. 64Revolt has always hated the idea of becoming just another digital hardcore-band, we try to make music that fills a void in the music-community of today. We are part of the 80's videogame-generation and we feel that the Nintendo and c64-like sounds in our music is our common language opposed to a guitar-solo or something like that. Every record has of course meant a great deal to us at the time it has been released. However our latest is most definitely the one that we appreciate the most. Here we think that we have found our most successful sound - a tasteful mixture between alarming dhc-noise and catchy video game melodies.
