Since August of 2003, After the Tragedy has been searing a brand for themselves in the minds of people between the ages of 10 to 55. Using incredibly melodic hooks and increasingly complex instrumental parts, Tragedy continues to only burn brighter. In the small town of Cabot, Arkansas, not far from Small Sway they shine like a diamond among pearls. With countless other impressive acts being birthed each day from central Arkansas alone, it's not an easy task for a local band to stake it's claim for something more, yet After the Tragedy does just that, and does it well. With members ranging in ages from 17 to 23, it's evident that they're just getting started. The main goal of After the Tragedy is to spread hope through their music and to be heard all over the world. Having hit Oklahoma, Missouri, Louisiana, Texas, Kentucky, Arkansas, Tennessee, Illinois, and Iowa on their own, it's only a matter of time until the empire expands. Among other accomplishments, Tragedy has successfully independently recorded and released a full length debut album entitled "The Beautiful Denounce New" in April of 2005, selling over 900 copies to date and more with each passing day. After the Tragedy will also be included in the highly anticipated Amped 3 Snowboarding video game due out for

XBOX in December of '05, as well as on the separate soundtrack CD for the game set to be sold and released internationally. With so many more achievements, the question arises, "Why aren't they signed?" When asked, guitarist James is quoted as saying, "We're not going to sign our lives away when we're doing fine on our own. It's going to take an offer better than what we can do for ourselves." "To hear them is to enjoy them. To see them is to love them." - Matt Baird of Spoken, Tooth Nail Records
