Alt-country masterpiece of understatement - a charming mixture of sweet singing and roadhouse-bluesy guitars. Sweet and tender, with shocking eruptions of vocal passion and six-string muscle. 12 MP3 Songs

COUNTRY: Alt-Country, ROCK: Americana Show all album songs: Happy Tree Songs Details:

Cottonhead has been playing on and off for nigh on ten years now in their home of New York City, gracing the stages of such finer venues as The Bottom Line, The Living Room, Fez, The Mercury Lounge and other equally reputable establishments to generally favorable reviews. Stemming from the country-western duets of the 1980's Talenfeld-Birdsong collaboration "The O.K. Canaries", Cottonhead is the plugged in and tuned up version of this now classic sound, and despite sporadic reports of their break-up, the band invariably re-appears with a new CD and a new bass amp. The current line up on the new album 'happy tree' features the same old Mary Birdsong and Greg Talenfeld, and then Joe Mendelson on piano, Kirsten Jansen on the drumming, Jeremy Chatzky on bass, Will Holshouser playing accordion, and this one's also got the Roven brothers, Timothy and James, on strings, nach.
