Acoustic-based new folk with roots - guitar, accordion, piano, bass, mandolin, etc. 11 MP3 Songs FOLK: Modern Folk, FOLK: Folk Pop Details: A review in The Woodstock Times said: "The brand spankin' new Fine . . . is a very pleasant listen - well-played and featuring Krueger playing various instruments with impressive end results, thought-provoking and far from preachy. In fact, the project . . . sounds terrific. . . ." A Review in the Chronogram said: "You'll laugh, you'll cry, you'll dance a jig if you feel the way I did upon hearing James Krueger's new CD release, Fine. . . . For the same reason we live in the Catskills, this CD is something you'll put on and won't take off. You'll listen to some songs like "Shot Through" . . . over and over. I would say he's a true voice of the Catskills if it hadn't already been said. He sounds like Phil Ochs with the added warmth of Willie Nelson. Also listen for shades of James Taylor - Krueger was in a psychiatric hospital for depression in his teens, as was Taylor. The music and lyrics on Fine reflect a deep, healthy connection with nature . . . "His web site, jameskrueger.com, is full of intimate information . . ." The Vermont Times said of James' performance: "Often Brilliant." The cover ain't bad either, eh? "Fine" is released on my own "Richly Impoverished Productions" label. I think the next recording project is to re-record "Lanesville Rain", another 11 song recording project that I never released due to monetary constrictions. We'll see. Check out my web site jameskrueger- the Bio page for performance projects in conjunction with the release of "Fine" and the Dates page for performance dates. Thanks. Drop me a line if you wish, and enjoy. James
