Being from the mid-west (Brew City), he combines the best styles of the east coast, dirty south, west coast, and of coarse mid-west which blend into original yet diverse Hip-Hop music to be enjoyed by all. Outside of Hip-Hop, other influences include Jazz, Funk, Rock and Roll, and many other forms of music, which transcend his brand of true Hip-Hop into an original sound that everyone can enjoy. A must have for true Hip-Hop heads. His self-owned label Flytalker Records has been getting him noticed in the underground scene in New York City and the Mid-West and I am sure the future is bright for this self-produced music maker/emcee. I know I throw his CD in as often as possible and check flytalkerfor his shows, which are impressive to say the least.
