DEBT MYTH #1: "All Debt is Bad, And I Should Stay As Far Away From It As Possible..." DEBT RELIEF FACT: At this point, you're probably thinking that all debt is bad and it's something to avoided. But this is simply not true. There are times when it makes sense to get into debt. This could be to purchase a home or to pay for a college education. DEBT MYTH #2: "Debt Is A Tool And Should Be Used To Help Create Prosperity..." DEBT RELIEF FACT: Debt isn't used by wealthy people nearly as much as we're led to believe. Forbes magazine conducted a survey and it was determined that 75 percent of the Forbes 400 (rich people, not your broke brother-in-law with an opinion) said the best way to build wealth is to become and stay debt free. DEBT MYTH #3: "Credit Is What Got Me Into This Mess..." DEBT RELIEF FACT: Your spending habits are what got you into debt in the first place. Credit is just a means to spending. If you have a problem with spending, then you would simply have spent any cash you had. Credit is a tool you used to leverage your spending power. However, credit cards make it easier to spend. DEBT MYTH #4: "You Need A Formal Program To Get Out Of Debt..." DEBT RELIEF FACT: This is not true. You can set up your own method to get out of debt. Many creditors will enroll you in their special reduced-interest programs if you contact them as an individual. The hardest part is getting up the courage to make those phone calls and knowing what to ask for. DEBT MYTH #5: "There's Nothing I Can Do About It Now. My Credit Is Destroyed Forever!..." DEBT RELIEF FACT: As long as you have a job, starting today, you can rebuild your credit. It will take some time, but eventually, you'll get it under control. Rebuilding your credit means that you are committed to paying your bills on time, looking for better credit options and educating yourself about money and credit. DEBT MYTH #6: "I Can't Change The Information On My Credit Report, It's Set In stone..." DEBT RELIEF FACT: You can change inaccurate information! The Fair Credit Reporting Act outlines that information that's not 100 accurate or cannot be verified within 30 days, must be removed. So it makes sense to check your credit report occasionally for any errors or to see if you've been the victim of identity fraud. DEBT MYTH #7: "If I Pay Off An Old Debt, It Will Be Removed From My Credit History..." DEBT RELIEF FACT: This will not happen. When you go ahead and pay on any of your past-due debts, this action will restart the time period that it can be reported in your credit history. DEBT MYTH #8: "Credit Counseling And Debt Management Programs Are All The Same..." DEBT RELIEF FACT: Credit counseling is an educational service that helps consumers develop a budget and the discipline to make consistent payments to eliminate debt. Debt management programs -- or DMPs as they're commonly known, acts like a middleman and collects a monthly lump sum payment from you. They in turn distribute these funds to your creditors until your bills are paid off. DEBT MYTH #9: "Since Credit Counseling Organizations Are Non-Profit, They Don't Charge For Their Services..." DEBT RELIEF FACT: Absolutely False. In past years, credit counseling agencies were able to provide their Debt Management Programs for free. Recently, creditors have cut back on their contributions from an average of 12-15 of each payment received to an average of 6-8. This is a huge loss in funding for these organizations. Therefore, these firms can't operate without fees from their clients. Keep in mind that most 'non-profits' have many of the same expenses that 'for-profit' businesses have and must find a way to pay for these expenses.

DEBT MYTH #10: "Bankruptcy Is Not A Big Deal, Everybody Does It..." DEBT RELIEF FACT: Bankruptcy is an extreme solution that should be reserved for cases when someone has an average salary of $30,000 with outstanding credit card debt of $60,000 or more. If you file Chapter 7, which gets rid of all debt, you have to wait nearly 10 years. With Chapter 13, which is debt reorganization, the seven-year clock starts ticking AFTER you pay off the debt.
