Details: Bert David Newton (lead singer for the band The Skeeters) sets out on his career as a solo artist with this Live album recorded at 2nd Street Music hall in Gadsden, Alabama. This recording truly displays honky tonk Backbone with bite. The back-up artists are former band members of the late, great, Waylon Jennings. Featuring Richie Albright on the drums, Jerry "Jigger" Bridges on bass guitar, Fred Newell on steel guitar and harmonicas, Barny Robertson on piano and B-3, and the "mad man" from Bakersfield, Eugene Moles on lead guitar. "I can't express what an honor it is to be on the same stage as these phenomenal musicians" declares Bert, and it definately shows in the sounds of this recording. True Outlaw Country at it's best, this album is one for the books. It's an awakening, you'll never get tired of.
