Bloom is tightly focused, addictively listenable, and downright accessible -the Village Voice ""Color in Bloom is a cohesive album where the emphasis is on carefully crafted and highly structured songs..."
-Boston Herald ""...few grass-roots bands tap such a polished sound..." -The Boston Globe ""There's not a bad or even mediocre cut among the album's nine songs"" -Relix Magazine " Percy Hill was formed in 1993 by Nate Wilson and Joe Farrell on the campus of the University of New Hampshire. Through 1997 they released 4 discs (two studio, one double live) and performed countless shows throughout the Northeast. In 1998, Aaron Katz(drums) and John Leccese(bass) were recruited to spread the music nation-wide. That same year they recorded the now-classic Color in Bloom and spent the next 2 years criss-crossing the country in support. In 2000, Color in Bloom picked up the Jammy award for Studio Album of the Year, and the group took a much needed break that fall. After a year of working on different projects, the members regrouped for the 2003 release Percy Hill Live, which features a 13-piece ensemble performing expanded arrangements of gems from Color in Bloom and a new batch of Percy classics. The band now performs select dates throughout the Northeast and spends much of its time in the recording studio.
