ROCK: Funk Rock, POP: California Pop
Details: A "live-entity" since April 2002, BRIAN ROBBINS BAND is known for its energetic live shows and wacky sense of humor. Combining stellar musicianship with catchy songs on topics ranging from love to intergalactic travel, the band cites influences as diverse as bluegrass and hip hop in creating a unique brand of rock n' roll. Tracks from Brian Robbins' 2000 solo release, "Banned in the State of Utah," have been licensed to MTV's "The Real World," "Road Rules," and "Making The Band." The group's mp3s have been downloaded over 85,000 times on mp3alone. BRIAN ROBBINS BAND is based in Los Angeles and performs throughout Southern California. The talented musicians include vocalist/guitarist Brian Robbins, originally from Michigan; Raffi Bagdasarian, from New York; saxophonist/guitarist Todd Grossman, from Utah; and drummer Neil Sebba, from Cape Town, South Africa. The band is currently recording a new CD. Check out brianrobbinsfor the latest updates.
