Passion Gwenevered will tell you that passion is an important part of writing great music. Without that, its just a job and theres no joy. Without joy, theres no feeling. Without feeling, its clinical. You wont make contact with any listeners. That being the case, its easy to see from Gwenevereds music that passion at high voltage is shot into the music during the creative process. Music is my passion in life and is my overall direction and gift. It is my creative outlet to express my feelings and emotions through my expressive style. When I write a song, it takes on a life of its own and it is truly my creative outlet and joy. Past and Plans Gwenevered has seen several songs hit the top 10 list at Broadjam and also placed tenth in Performer.coms competition for best female vocalist. Writing is ongoing with a view to a long and successful career. An albums worth of music already exists and more pours forth every day. Music is always in my head and fuels my need to express my feelings, thoughts and passions for life through my songs. Music is the awareness of the souls expressiveness.
