Gritty Pop for sexy people.....Good driving music 7 MP3 Songs POP: Today's Top 40, FOLK: Power-folk Details: Helen Hays Theatre, Broadway, New York.....A giant claw, A 12 foot high bicycle.....heads served on a platter....., and Jana's Broadway debut had come and gone. After spending 5 years on the road with a performance art group where she choreographed, co-wrote, and performed 8 different shows, Jana left exhausted and disgusted with music.....and felt lost. As a self-proclaimed, "recovering music school drop-out", Jana has spent the last 2 years working on her first solo recording. "I'm really excited about it, I'm happy with the music and have had some really great experiences exploring new musical ideas, and working with wonderful musicians." Guitar based, soulful pop songs fill up the 7-song debut, with friend David Usokinnion on drums (The Hooters, Alice Cooper, Cyndi Lauper, Patty Smyth, Taj Mahal) and song collaborator Melanie Peters on Guitar. "Bittersweet", the title song from the dually named CD, opens with a bite of raw, uncomfortable honesty, reminiscent of Alanis Morissette. Melancholy, literal, and often adult-ly poetic lyrics dominate this album, and leave us feeling strangely satisfied...yet still hungry for more. Half way through a summer tour in 2006, and scheduling a West Coast tour for January/February 2007, Jana and her band might be near you soon.....check the gig list, if she's not near ya.....tell her you want her to come to your town too!
