The music we provide is a style that combines influences of rock, hip-hop, jazz, pop, and funk. The combination of the various styles produces music that can be accepted in the rock scene, the pop scene, and the rap scene. Our instrumentation and personnel is as follows: Pat Hart - Vocals Sean Watson - Vocals Nick D'Errico - Keyboard Dan Burns - Guitar Dave Cesare - Bass Mike Stuart - Drums We are all trained musicians, having met each other in high school and college. Our song writing is diverse, with songs ranging from jazzy pop tunes to hip-hop rock songs to energy-filled crowd pleasers. The songs we write contain both the musicality and drive to make people move and sing along. We have been together since April of 2001 and have since grown a huge fan base that has stretched well beyond our friends and family. We have played throughout South Jersey as well as into New York and Pennsylvania. We are looking forward to expanding our music to a wider audience so that more people can experience what we have to offer. On in Five is our first album and is completely self-produced. We had recorded smaller demos on our own before, but we knew it was time to go for the real deal and put together a full album. We packed the CD to the brim (75 minutes total playing time) so that we could give our fans as much music for their money as possible. We are all very proud and excited with On in Five, and we are confident that you will be to. Our website, oneninecrew.com, has become our biggest communication tool. On it we have up-to-date news, show and performance dates, downloadable music, pictures, and ways for our fans to communicate with us. We encourage everyone to visit the website. Thanks and spread the word!
