My style is strong and unpredictable. 12 MP3 Songs HIP HOP/RAP: Rap, POP: Party Pop Details: I was raised in Brooklyn, New York, (Bushwick) life was hard for me coming up. When I was a kid I lived in and out of shelters, I was at the age where a child couldn't realize what was going on but I did. My grandmother took care of me buying me clothes and putting food in my mouth. I'm not trying to say my mother was a bad mother, but I knew where her limitations were. About when I was 5 I almost died, rushing to the hospital I came back to life. From there my life started to change. Four years later my grandmother died of cancer, she was gone I couldn't believe it, all I had was my mom and grandfather. I knew when my grandmother died life was gonna get harder for me. After we came back from the funeral for some strange reason I began to rap. I never knew how to rap and all of a sudden I was rapping good, this is not my plan this is God's plan. I started to hustle in the cold streets of New York making money. I never had a job so all I knew was hustling and flowing. I had the ambition to do anything, and I did. So I decided to give up hustling and continue with God's plan. I know this may seem crazy, but God guided and protected me through the whole thing. Caliba has an ambition to do anything to him everything is possible. He wants the finer things in life. He is the seventh wonder of the world, he is smart, funny, charming and unique. I love music so much that it is a part of me. I speak to the beat, that's why my music sounds so good. I listen to what the beat is trying to say to me and I respond. Most people don't try to hear out the beat, that is why their music sounds so stupid and muddy. I feel like anyone could write to music, it's just how you write to it. Hearing me, you would think I'm already signed. To my belief, artwork tells how you sound and how you are. Some people brought CDs and felt like they got robbed, well you won't go wrong when you buy mine. Yeah I rob people's hearts in other words they become my fans. I'll be damn if I put out something garbage, that's like committing suicide with your career. Music is not the only thing I'm tryna do. Im just trying to expand on doing different things in my life. Like clothes, video games, movies, books and more. So regardless Im gonere keep my fans entertain.
