Details: Hoarsebox are a great Irish band who combine their lively instrumentation with four-part harmonies and bucket loads of energy. Mixing guitar, bass, drums and piano, while singing upbeat melodies, Hoarsebox strive to create a warm and open atmosphere where people can dance, sing and clap their hands... or each other! People tend to sweat from over-dancing gyration syndrome at their gigs - you will too. The band work to create a rich, gloopy and melodic sound that is quintessentially Hoarsebox, although it is inspired by sources from far and wide. Hoarsebox have already played all over Ireland and also in the UK, including a support tour with The Stranglers, and Irish artists such as Boss Volenti, as well as headline gigs at Spiegeltent, Button Factory, Whelans and other well-known Irish venues. The band released their Cuckooland EP (June 2008) along with the single Rosey, which is already receiving airplay on quite a few stations nationally. In summer 08 they will complete an Irish tour including some great festival dates, before heading to the USA for their first set of tour dates on the East Coast. Check the bands website for details.
