Mike Macharyas is back for another round of repeating celebrity names. New celebrities, same old Macharyas, but this time he's "grown artistically." 15 MP3 Songs SPOKEN WORD: Comedy, NEW AGE: Ambient Details: Mike Macharyas is BACK, people. Back in Black. Back in the saddle again. Back to repeating celebrity names with Ashlee Simpson. His first effort was a masterpiece in every sense of the word. His amazing vocal delivery, NNMaddox's musical direction and production helped make Avril Lavigne a whopping success. Before you could say "Kevin Federline," it was time for Macharyas to get up off his ass and record a followup. Here, we see a smarter, more grown-up Macharyas deliver the goods. That's right, he's "grown as an artist." He "knows where he's at, musically." He's not turning the ball over. He's hitting his fucking free throws. He's Mike Macharyas, people. Do you expect anything other than greatness. We have a real assortment of music here with Ashlee Simpson. Sure, there's your pretentious ambient horsemake. But like Arsenio Hall said at the 1991 MTV Music Awards, we got something if you like rock, we got something if you like rap, we got something if you like polka. Ok, no polka songs here. Alot of people say they like every kind of music. You know DAMN well they ain't listening to polka.
