Details: Polyminor are an acoustic instrumental act from Australia. Indepedent music that is written with the intention of creating a mood or scenario, which is ultimately controlled by the listener. Music left half done, so the other can be fulfilled by the audience. This is the debut CD for Polyminor, a perfect sample if you look at the diverse range of styles within the four pieces. It all fits together, thanks to the violin performance of Susannah Clark, and Matt Luciano on classical/acoustic guitar. Matt also wrote all the parts and performed all instruments. A full-length album will be better suited for a longer experience, though don't miss these songs, which show the promise of an interesting journey ahead.
