George Bush sings. Featuring the all time #2 comedy song at garageband.com, "Monster Hash (rehash)", and the Right Said Fred parody, "Too Stupid for my Shirt". A Q&A session with the president rounds out this hilarious little CD. 6 MP3 Songs POP: Quirky, SPOKEN WORD: Comedy Details: the Ians began when Ian Butler met Ian Jensen and realized they had something in common - they were both left handed. They considered forming a band called "The Left Handed People", until they realized they also were both named Ian. On a lark they recorded a parody of Monster Mash as sung by George Bush (as channeled by Ian Jensen) and it became an instant classic, becoming the #2 alltime comedy song at garageband.com. (after being knocked out of the top slot by a vast liberal conspiracy) So they recorded another parody, Too Stupid for my Shirt, added a Q&A session with the prez, and thus a CD was born, albeit a really short one. But with President Bush for a lead singer, that's probably a good thing.
