There are only a couple hundred of this limited edition run of "Shaping" left, UBS is not re-releasing this album! United By Sound is the musical collaboration between Jeni Ivey and Tmo Cenicerros. Their music deconstructs the distinctions between live and electronic music, creating a sound that stands on its own. They achieve this with a simple love for exploring melody, beats, harmony, bass, and sonic texture. As much a production team as a duo of artists and songwriters, United By Sound is able to bring a raw D.I.Y spirit to grade (A) music production. Tmo and Jeni began working together in 2001, with Jeni casually giving Tmo vocal samples for his productions. This quickly evolved into full song remixes, and two years later Tmo independently released the album 'Shaping' under the United By Sound moniker. After performing the material live at the CD release concert, they enjoyed it so much that they decided to join forces and explore the possibilities of music that they could create together. UBS continued to hone their sound by performing shows across the west coast and writing sets of new music. They have since set up a studio in San Francisco and spent the last year producing their much-anticipated fully collaborative debut, which will be finished in April 2005. "We are very excited and proud of this has both of our hearts and souls fully invested in it." Despite the fact that United By Sound had moved on to new material so quickly after the release of 'Shaping' the album has taken on a life of its own. With zero promotion, 'Shaping' has been purchased worldwide in Austrailia, Japan, Europe, and cities all across the United States, and met with much acclaim. At the young ages of 22, 20, UBS brings fresh energy to the electronica genre, and promises their fans a long career of evolving music.
