Not Your Familiar is Eden Automatic's latest and moodiest CD. NYF explores the darker side of band's music. The result is two songs from the CD being placed in Shock-o-Rama Cinema film Suburban Nightmare. 5 MP3 Songs ROCK: Psychedelic, ROCK: Modern Rock Details: Eden Automatic defines the new dark alternative by spiraling in and around silky vocals adding erotic texture to an eerie soundscape. Layered in part by guitarist Doug Conlon, bassist Greg Terhune, and drummer Scott Miles while lead singer Annette Conlon provides additional guitar. A four-piece rock band from Dallas, fronted by Annette Conlon, Eden Automatic delivers the instant pleasure promised by their name. Constant travel has built a regional fan base in Texas, Louisiana, Colorado, Oklahoma, and New Mexico - from small venues to fairs and festivals - Eden Automatic has forged a new genre. Not limited to live performances, Eden Automatic was selected as the feature band for the internationally televised TV Show "Net Talk Live". In the Movies... Eden Automatic has had several songs placed in many movies over the years: I'll Love You To Death (Not Your Familiar) - Suburban Nightmare (2004 - EI) Don't Wake Becky (Not Your Familiar) - Suburban Nightmare (2004 - EI) (Music Video) Need (Glimmer) - American Nightmare (2002) Laughing (EPED) - A Rat's Tale (2000 - Warner Brothers)
