She was also nominated for Best Female Vocal Performance in an Album the same year. These were only 2 of the 4 nominations she and her album received at AIM12. Juwita's journey in the professional music scene began in her late teens as a backing vocalist for leading Malaysian artistes at gigs, mega concerts and prominent award shows. It was during this time that she developed her personal versatility and was often called upon to record song demos for East Asian publishing houses. In fact, it was demos such as these which were eventually released and unexpectedly caught the attention of many a curious listener. One example is her rendition of Breathe Again, published by Warner Music Taiwan in a Soundtrack for Mandarin TV drama series The Outsiders. In July 2003, while representing Malaysia at the YWCA World Council International Womens Summit in Brisbane, Australia, Juwita performed a song she wrote based on the theme, Leading Change. It expressed her passion to encourage especially youth to use their unique God-given capabilities to make a difference in society. This received an enthusiastic response from the audience of approximately 1,000 women from over 100 countries. In 2004, Juwita was entrusted with the task of coaching the finalists of the inaugural 'Malaysian Idol', and continued to do so for the second season. Later, she was also enlisted on the LG MyStarz mentoring team consisting of Malaysia's top musicians. Since the release of her debut solo album, Juwita has performed at numerous events, youth rallies and concerts in Peninsular East Malaysia and Singapore. In November 2005, she had her first Australian Mini Tour during which she performed and presented an 'Angel' award at the National Gospel Music Awards in Canberra. Her second Australian Mini Tour in July 2006 was with the first Malaysian Idol Jaclyn Victor. Together they performed at Paradise Community Church in Adelaide, Australia for Christ Fellowship in Melbourne and at the Mt.Buller Ski Resort. June 2007 found Juwita at the Asia Pacific Youth Alive Conference in Jakarta, Indonesia with the Malaysian team that led a stadium-full of 5,500 young people in worship. In July 2007, she performed once again at the International Women's Summit, this time held in Nairobi, Kenya. In November 2007, Juwita was voted country winner for the 2007 International Music Awards in the Best Female Solo Artist category with her sophomore album 'Juwita Suwito - For Real'.
