Vocally driven, sultry country blues that blend country, blues and folk like a cross between Lucinda Williams and John Prine. Rachel and The Boys whip up a sound that is perfect for a Sunday morning cup of coffee or cold beers on a summer night. 10 MP3 Songs FOLK: Modern Folk, COUNTRY: Country Folk Details: Rachel Browning, singer/songwriter for the roots rock band demi-dryer has started a solo project with her backing band, The Do Right Boys. Playing original tunes that blend country, blues and folk like a cross between Lucinda Williams and John Prine, Rachel and The Boys whip up a sound that is perfect for a Sunday morning cup of coffee or cold beers on a summer night. Sultry, breezy songs with lots of breathing room accompanied by the stripped down acoustic sound of a slide guitar and stand up bass, this trio is a listening pleasure. "Rachel Browning and the Do Right Boys chugged through rich and gracious slices of Americana that sauntered, swayed and scorched their way slowly into the soul. They oozed professional calmness and sailed effortlessly through an assortment of simple, yet sophisticated original folk tunes..." - The Oregonian "Listening to Portland singer-songwriter Rachel Browning is like getting sage advice from a bookish but cool older sister." - Willamette Week NW Music Fest Guide
