Some changes were made in the past three years and now is here in its final cut. The First Sacred Spirit Album was released in 1994 and to some it was considered the door to New Wave music. The album combined the sounds of native American Traditional Chants with a touch of modern music as background. Ten years later (2004) the Creator of Sacred Spirit created this CD (Sacred Spirit 2005) with new sounds - and new technology, combining sounds from Inuit, The Lakota, Navajo, etc. with a mixture of sounds from all over the world. There is even a melody where you can hear a traditional Armenian Children song (Morning Feather) with Native American Flute as background. This melody was created to celebrate the birth of The Flute Keepers daughter and her Armenian roots. Those who have heard the Sacred Spirit Album 1994 Release will find this new release the same but quite different.
