A perspective that he hopes will leak out of his music and into your life. Music that is engaging and upbeat in a way that will encourage and speak to your heart. As an entrepreneur and business owner he loves to be around, and interact with, all manner of people finding humor in the idiosyncrasies that are to be found in each of us. He sees music as a mirror, held up to reflect not what can be seen on the outside, but rather to reflect that which we think to keep hidden on the inside. We rarely succeed at this as those around us usually see right through, which points to the fact that under the skin we are all the same. This reveals a knowledge and wisdom caught up in our emotions that has nothing to do with our intellect. Believing that a growing awareness of this knowledge and wisdom found in each of us is essential for continued emotional and spiritual growth, he hopes to encourage reflection in that direction through music.
