Bluegrass 11 MP3 Songs COUNTRY: Bluegrass, COUNTRY: Traditional Country Details: There's a certain soulful quality to bluegrass music that some people feel you have to be born with. It's something that just can't be manufactured by the music industry. Certain artists come by that gift naturally. Scott Partridge is one of those artists and it's readily evident on every song of his new self-titled disc. A job in Los Angeles left Scott homesick and creatively chafing at the bit. Partridge returned to Nashville, bought a log cabin in the woods and set about making music again. The result is an album that combines the bluegrass and country influences that have shaped Partridge's unique artistry. With a distinctive voice that combines classic country phrasing with that high lonesome sound that defines the best in bluegrass, Partridge breathes life into an engaging collection of tunes. Partridge is joined on this musical outing by some of the most acclaimed musicians in bluegrass music. Rob McCoury, a member of the Del McCoury Band, nine-time winners of the International Bluegrass Music Association's entertainer of the year accolade, lends his talents on banjo. Ward Stout co-produces and plays fiddle. Dave Peterson adds harmony. Also joining Scott is newcomer Natalie Sanders on a great duet. The project reflects a lifetime of musical experience from an artist whose passion for traditional music permeates every cut. Though the album contains compelling renditions of some of bluegrass and country's best-loved tunes, the project also showcases Partridge's songwriting talents. 'Workin' Man's Hands', written by Partridge, Russ Roberts, and Ed Lassar, is a tribute to a hard-working man who loved his wife and family beyond measure. Another standout track, co-written by Partridge, is 'Father Time', a beautiful love song that boasts an ear-catching melody and heartfelt lyric.
