He has been performed and/or recorded with a keep down of California and International artists over the years including: Alan Parsons, Mark Karan (Ratdog), Aynsley Dunbar, Frank Goldwasser, and Wally Ingram to name a few. His first full length album under his own name entitled "A Small Wiser" was released in late in 2001. The Alastair Greene Band has shared the stage with such artists as John Mayall And The Bluesbreakers, The Fabulous Thunderbirds, Mike Campbell's Dirty Knobs, Lonnie Brooks, and Robin Trower 2002 found Alastair doing session work with world-renowned drummer Aynsley Dunbar as well as playing lots of shows around Southern California with his band and a variety of others. October 2003 marked the release of 'The Alastair Greene Band: Official Bootleg- Live In L.A.' Rounding out the established sound of Alastair, Tom, and Jack is the Hammond B3 stylings of former Junior Wells Band alumni Steve Utstein. Sure to be another fan and press favorite, 'Live In L.A.' is already causing a buzz in Germany and France. 2004: A recent joining of forces with West Coast Harmonica legend Mitch Kashmar (fresh off from touring with Junior Watson) is the newest slab of music on Alastair's plate. The sound is classic Harmonica lead Chicago Blues with plenty of blistering guitar and great songs. Hoping to get into the studio ASAP, and with Tom and Jack laying down the grooves behind this dynamic duo, there'll be no stopping Alastair's blues anytime soon.
