Contemporary Spanish guitar solos with Spanish, French, American and Italian flavors played with classical guitar technique on the nylon string guitar. 11 MP3 Songs CLASSICAL: Contemporary, EASY LISTENING: Background Music Details: Dave Anthony Setteducati is a Long Island, NY guitarist and composer. He is best known for his fingerstyle playing of the guitar on his albums "My Guitar" and "Solitaire for Guitar" which feature him performing his own compositions as a soloist on the nylon string or "classic" guitar. He has been influenced by many different guitarists, from Chuck Berry to Fernando Sor! Dave's musical "chops" are evident in every piece on the album. Many are intricately crafted compositions that feature a melody, bass, and chord lines all going on at once! Guitar aficionados will love this album, and those who appreciate fine music will agree. The moods of the pieces range from exciting to pensive. Dave reports that "Song of the Snow" was written all at once, just pouring out of him as he played one snowy day at home. "Song for a Friend" was composed for Dave's young son as he played with his friend in Dave's studio. "Sueno de Flamenco" reflects the influence of the fiery Spanish flamenco style. "Agincourt (The Bullfight)" is a favorite piece for many of Dave's loyal fans. Dave has performed extensively as a soloist and with his band in the metropolitan New York area. He has played from Boston to San Francisco, and from Albany to Virgin Gorda, in the British Virgin Islands.
