(Marcus, I think it would be good if we could get a message on our website right away that simply says we are under construction, and that we can temporarily be reached at crystalriverartists@yahoo.com) George Bowker lives in southern California. He is not only a participating artist at Crystal River Artists, but is also the Creative Director and Executive Producer. Besides music George is known to try his hand as a watercolorist and a poet. When not engaged in the creative stuff he can be found around town and at New Age and Pagan Festivals doing dream interpretation, spiritual readings, spiritual cleansing work, healing, and leading spiritual encounters. George also mentors spiritual leaders in probing greater depths of spiritual life. Gaza Day Break, the third release in the Nation Healers Trilogy, takes a decidedly more serious turn from the lighter side of Desert Dance and Dance With The Rain. There are much deeper places to search out in our spiritual journey, and Gaza Day Break provides the musical access point for serious searchers. Grasping the nature of our spiritual core and comprehending our purpose for this planet is essential for beginning to experience a degree of spiritual maturity and fulfillment. Thus we begin with songs inspired by regions of the earth with a more serious state of brokenness, and yet a far more remarkable destiny. Again, we most often understand the great destiny of places and people because of the degree of their brokenness. Entering into the spiritual realm of this brokenness is not easy, but it is very enlightening, and enlivening. Join me on this journey of going deeper into the spiritual realm. Let the music provide you a vehicle for connecting with the journey. Go the distance. You will change, yes, but more importantly, you will become an agent of great spiritual change, if you are willing to grow and become. It's a trip worth taking. You'll be glad you did...
